

Disclaimer

The Biodiversity Indicator Tool (BIT) is intended solely to be used as a conservation planning tool that assists in evaluating the potential biodiversity significance of lands and waters in New York. The BIT is an informational tool that was not designed to fulfill environmental review requirements established under the State Environmental Quality Review Act (SEQRA), the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), or any other state, federal, or local environmental or land use review requirements.

Information accessed from the BIT does not establish or effect legal rights or obligations, nor is it a final determination of the legal status of, or protections afforded to, various lands and waters in New York. Use of the BIT does not create any rights enforceable by any party in litigation with the State of New York or the New York Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation ("OPRHP").

The State of New York, OPRHP, or their officers, employees or contractors make no representations or warranties, express or implied, with respect to the use of or reliance on the data provided herewith, regardless of its format or means of transmission. There are no guarantees or representations to the user as to the accuracy, currency, completeness, suitability or reliability of this data for any purpose. The user accepts the data "as is" and assumes all risks associated with its use. OPRHP assumes no responsibility for actual, consequential, incidental, special or exemplary damages resulting from caused by or associated with, any user's reliance on or use of this data, even if appraised of the likelihood of such damages occurring. This disclaimer applies both to individual use of BIT information and aggregate use with other data.
